MILES MATTER SETTLED.

Retired Officers to Receive Only "Retired Pay"

Washington, Feb. 27.—The Miles matter is finally settled on the basis long predicted in these despatches. The House contention prevails and after June 30, retired officers above the grade of major cannot secure the pay of active service by merely securing an assignment with state militia. The Democrats of the House, by refusing to follow John Sharp Williams in this matter, who would have made an exception in Miles' favor, left the friends of Miles in the Senate helpless, and today they saw the futility of further efforts, when the conference report came up for final action, and so yielded to the inevitable.

Almost Like Dime Novel.

Rutland, Feb. 28.—Among the cases to be taken up by the federal grand jury which sat at Burlington today is that of John D. Saulsbury, the alleged Poutney counterfeiter, who was arrested November 2 and has since been in the Rutland county jail awaiting the February term of the United States court. Saulsbury's case is of more than usual interest because he has a history seldom found attached to a man except in a dime novel.

When the man first went to jail he was in a pitiable condition as the result of having been a slave to morphine for a long period. His prison life has made him a changed man, for having been compelled to do without the drug he has regained his health and the prospect of a light sentence because of the peculiar conditions which led to his counterfeiting makes him look forward to beginning life anew with not a little enthusiasm.

Almost the whole country southward of Sanaa is in revolt and the towns of Kataba and Tais have fallen into the hands of the insurgent tribes, whose forces are constantly increasing. ### NOT JOHN PAUL JONES' COFFIN.

That Unearthed in Paris Dated Two Years Before the American's Death.

Paris, Feb. 27.—The corroded nameplate on the leaden coffin unearthed as a result of the preliminary examination which Ambassador Porter is making for the body of John Paul Jones, the naval hero of the Revolutionary War, has finally been deciphered, showing that it was the coffin of an Englishman buried May 5, 1790, two years before the death of Jones. Consequently the coffin will not be opened. The examination continues. The finding of this leaden coffin has the advantage of establishing that those buried in the Protestant cemetery about the time of Jones' death lie in the vicinity of the present excavations.

NEW KIND OF STRIKE IN ITALY.

Trainmen Causing Much Trouble Without Actually Ceasing Work.

Rome, Feb. 27.—In order to escape the penalties for striking, the railway employees throughout Italy have engaged in a harassing system of literal and exaggerated obedience of rules and orders, which is having the effect of badly crippling traffic and provoking great indignation on the part of the public. The effect has been the cancellation of some trains, and the delay of others. The passenger traffic has been reduced in consequence about sixty per cent, at a time when the tourist season is at its height, and the railroads are suffering accordingly. The employees demand certain concessions from the railroads and the repeal of the law prescribing severe punishment for railway employees who engage in strikes.

FOR A SPEEDY TRIAL.

Nan Patterson's Plea to Be Heard Tomorrow.

New York, Feb. 28.—Counsel for Nan Patterson, who was indicted for the murder of Caesar Young, yesterday applied to Justice Gaynor, sitting in special term, supreme court, Brooklyn, for writs of habeas corpus and certiorari. They contend that the legal right to a speedy trial is denied to her, and ask that she be tried at once or else admitted to bail. The certiorari application asks for a review of the indictment proceedings. Justice Gaynor granted the writs.

The habeas corpus calls for the production of Nan Patterson before Justice Gaynor at 11 o'clock tomorrow, when argument will be heard whether she should have a new trial at once or be released on bail. It was said that counsel for the defense would be able to produce bail to the amount of $20,000. The writ of certiorari calls for the production in court of the indictment found against Nan Patterson and all papers referring to the case that have been drawn up since the trial.

YOUNG WOMAN LURED TO DEATH

Enticed to a Lonely Hut on Mountain Side—Found Dead—Ten Men Arrested, Charged With Causing Death of Woman.

New York, Feb. 28.—Investigations begun by the police of Paterson, N. J., immediately after the half-clad body of a young woman was found near the railroad track in that city, last Saturday, have led them to the conclusion that they have on their hands a case in many ways like the Jennie Boschi case of two years ago.

Already 10 men are under arrest, and the officers say that at least one of them has made admissions which warrant them in continuing the investigation along the lines upon which it was begun.

It has been learned that the woman was enticed to a lonely hut on the mountain side, where she was plied with liquor and most of her clothing stripped from her. Then she either escaped from her captors, or was thrown out, almost naked, to wander and stumble in the snow and cold down the mountain side, until she sank and died where she was found.

That she battled with her assailants until she was overcome, the police believe. Clutched in one hand of the dead woman was a lock of man's hair, apparently torn from a head during a desperate struggle.

The identity of the woman has not yet been established. One of the prisoners says she was Lillian Horton of Yonkers. Other persons believe she formerly lived at a small hotel in Eighth avenue, this city.

When the body was found, shoes, stockings and other outer garments were missing. Portions of these articles were found later in a store in the hut on the mountain, where the officers went there to investigate a report that the girl had been seen in company with members of a gang of tramps who made their home there. The arrest of 10 members of the gang followed.

Some of the prisoners say that the woman went to the hut of her own free will, and wandered away while intoxicated. The police theory, however, is that she was detained at the place by force, that the liquor was given was drugged and that her clothing was taken away from her to prevent her eluding her captors and was overcome while seeking aid and a friendly shelter.

After an autopsy on the woman's body, County Physician McBride said death had resulted from exhaustion unaided by exposure and ill-usage. There were many abrasions and bruises on the body, but all of them were superficial.

MAY WHEAT DEAL COLLAPSES.

Price Breaks Nearly Four Cents a Bushel, Going Down to $1.14 1/2.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 28.—The price of wheat for May delivery broke nearly 4 cents a bushel here yesterday. At the same time the July option sold off 2 1/2 cents. The sharp decline was due to general liquidation, participated in by many of the large holders. The first signs of a collapse in the May deal brought on numerous stop-loss orders, thus increasing the weakness.

May opened at 1.18 to 1.18 1/2, practically the closing figures of Saturday. Initial quotations on July were at 1.01 1/2 to 1.01 1/2. An advance on May to 1.18 1/2 was followed by a sudden drop to 1.14 1/2. From 1.03 1/2, July sold off to 99 1/2. The market later rallied materially on covering.

HOSPITAL IS RUSHED.

In Three Months' Time Brattleboro Institution Receives 60 Patients.

Brattleboro, Feb. 28. There are now 14 patients at the Brattleboro Memorial hospital, making the total number of patients admitted since the institution was opened three months ago, 60. There have been but two deaths, although there has been a large number of difficult operations, and in both instances the patient was in such a condition on entering the hospital that recovery was hardly expected. Archie Mellen's right leg, which was crushed under a load of plank, in Jamaica, last November, will be amputated today by a New York specialist, the bones failing to knit. An operation for appendicitis was performed upon Mrs. Mary Blacklee Piggott Saturday.

BERLIN'S NEW CATHEDRAL

Brilliant Assemblage Attends Consecration.

MANY REPRESENTATIVES

From All Protestant Nations — Prominent Diplomats Witness the Ceremony.

Berlin, Feb. 27.—Emperor William's Messa for Protestants, the Evangelical Cathedral here, was consecrated today in the presence of a most brilliant assemblage, among whom were delegates from all the Protestant nations. The service was simple and stately, and was enriched with wonderful music. Bishop Potter of New York and a long list of American clergy sent a long telegram of congratulation to the emperor.

The nave was filled with some hundreds of well-known personalities. The ambassadors and their wives, including Mr. and Mrs. Tower, sat on the first bench below the chancel, with Chancellor Von Buelow in the center. Behind them were the diplomats of lesser rank, members of the cabinet and foreign clergy, among them being the bishop of Ripon (Rt. Rev. William Boyd Carpenter), Scandinavian preachers, with white ruffs around their necks, of the time of Gustavus Adolphus; Swiss ministers, with lawn cravats falling over black cassocks, and of the Americans—Professor Francis Brown of Union Theological Seminary, in a plain black gown; Rev. Dr. J. H. Prugh, pastor of the Grace Reformed church of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Rev. J. J. Heischmann, pastor of St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran German church of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Rev. Dr. Dickie, pastor of the American church in Berlin. Behind those were placed, according to precedence, a great number of generals, purple-robed senators and academy officials. The emperor and empress having just side of them Prince Arthur of Connaught and on the other Crown Prince Frederick of Denmark, while thirty-two princes and princesses of the German states, sat in the gallery opposite the altar attended by heralds in parti-colored costumes, with enormous plumed hats. The whole scene, with the sunlight pouring from a dome on the white interior, suggested a gala opera or a reception in the great white hall of the palace, rather than a religious service.

Somewhat in the shadows, in the side aisles and corners, on backs of benches, were several hundreds of men and women of the parish, most of them poor and self-conscious, in definite contrast to the flower-bed effect of the nave.

The emperor had caused a special place to be left for Dr. Luther of the Berlin health department, one of the last survivors of Martin Luther's race. The ringing of bells in all the Protestant churches of the city, the signal that the emperor had arrived and that the dedication was beginning, brought everyone to attention. The emperor, standing in the wide vestibule, took a key from the chairman of the Building Commission and handed it to Dr. Dryander, the chief court preacher, who opened the principal door into the auditorium. The imperial party ascended to the reserved gallery to the music of Handel's "Hallelujah," by the organ and band. A simple service then began, the choir chanting the ninety-fifth psalm, and the congregation sang the hymn "To God Alone on High Be Honor."

Dr. Dryander made the dedicatory address, alluding especially to the presence of Protestant delegates from other countries and the message from the American clergy, which testified to the spiritual unity of Protestants throughout the world. Dr. Dryander in the development of this idea suggested that it was the emperor's desire that this shall be the center of the world of Protestantism and that the German emperor shall in a general sense be the protector of the faith. Dr. Dryander made the dedicatory prayer. The double choir then chanted Bach's "Sing to the Lord a New Song," the congregation sang Luther's "A Firm Fortress is Our God," and Dr. Kritzinger preached. The entire service lasted one and three-quarters hours. All the bells in the city were again rung as the service ended.

The emperor received the American delegates at the palace during the afternoon. Ambassador Tower introduced them to his majesty, who talked with each of them about their work in America. The Americans were also presented to the empress. The American delegates will be the guests of the emperor at a large dinner at the palace tonight, and will lunch with Ambassador and Mrs. Tower tomorrow.

HIGHEST WAGE KNOWN.

New York Bricklayers May Get $87.20 Weekly If Busy.

New York, Feb. 28.—If they vote to accept, more than 9,000 bricklayers in this city in accordance with the Mason Builders' Association will have their wages raised from 65 to 70 cents per hour on Wednesday, the highest wages ever paid to bricklayers in this country. Under this rate of wages it will be possible for a bricklayer to make $67.20 a week, for, during the busy season, the men work 12 hours a day. ## Interesting Facts --- A Few Remarks by an Observer.

"It seems strange to me," remarked a prominent physician the other day, "why so many people make light of what is, in many respects, one of the most dangerous of diseases—Grip. Scores of people whom I know seem to regard this deadly malady as a joke or call it fashionable."

"Possibly there is no disease that is as far-reaching in its effects as this same 'fashionable' grip. Fashionable indeed! When I stop to think of the appalling results of Grip that has come under my observation, it makes me shudder. Would you consider it 'fashionable' to have a weakened heart, affected lungs or impaired eyesight? Would it be a joke to spend the remainder of your days in an insane asylum? These are not mere fancies; they are pictures drawn from life showing the awful results from Grip. Of course all persons suffering from an attack of Grip are not left with these afflictions, but I have yet to discover a person who has had this disease who has not been left with some portion of his system weakened. It is this weak spot that is susceptible to every unhealthy influence that comes along. The best way to prevent Grip is to keep the system in such good condition that it will throw off any tendencies toward this prevalent disease."

The best way to fortify yourself against Grip is to take Mages' Emulsion. It gives you the strength and vitality necessary to stand severe weather.
